SUNDAY SCHOOL ON SATURDAY

Children in the parish of St. Eanswythe's Church of England, Altona, can now go to Sunday School on Saturday.

The parish is experimenting with a new system of primary Christian education — believed to be the first of its kind in Melbourne.

The Saturday school has been named SCIP STREET — which stands for Saturday Christian Instruction Programme at Queen Street.

Primary school children can attend the monthly sessions between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The five hours will include morning and afternoon cordial, lunch, music, games, painting, modelling, drama and instruction.

It will be conducted both in age groups and as an entire group.

Each grade will have a trained teacher and an assistant.

In the old Sunday school systems, a child attending each week would bring between $2 and $8 a year for expenses.

Scip Street has a budget of $1.50 a child a year.

Enrolment forms for parents wishing their children to attend Scip Street have been sent out in the parish magazines.

The Vicar, the Rev. J. B. Lawley, said a Parish Christian Education Committee had been formed about six months ago.

He said the committee had been considering the full education needs of the parish.

Mr. Lawley said he felt what education the parish had been doing in the past had not achieved very much.

He added that the experiment resulted from a lot of talking and planning.

Scip Street is part of a three-point programme.

• This includes monthly family services and a creche for pre-schoolers to attend while their parents are at church.

JAPAN TOUR FOR MAYOR'S SON

An Altona youngster is one of the 25 boys of the Australian Boy's Choir selected to tour Japan in April.

He is Brett Grant, son of the Mayor and Mayor-ess, Cr. D. K. Grant and Mrs. Grant, of Blyth Street, Altona.

Brett will also be a member of the choir which will be giving a two-hour performance at the official opening of the District 280 Rotary Convention in Melbourne at Dallas Brooks Hall on Thursday, March 18.

IAN PEDLER'S FINE DOUBLE

Altona North High School captain Ian Pedler, who was a member of the Victorian Under 18 basketball side last year, completed a fine double by winning a Commonwealth Scholarship at last year's Higher School Certificate (matriculation) examinations.

Pedler, 17, of 20 Millers Road, Brooklyn, was one of 31 pupils at the school who satisfied University entrance requirements.

With 51 candidates presenting for the examination, this represents a pass rate of 62 per cent. compared to 55 per cent. in 1969 and 78 per cent. in 1968.

Principal Mr. Roy Roberts said the school's results compared very favorably with other high schools in Victoria.

He said that students who sat for Mathematics-Science subjects did particularly well.

"All physics students passed, while in calculus and applied mathematics five students gained A passes which means they gained more than 80 per cent."

"Six of the 16 candidates in Chemistry gained A or B class passes."

Best individual results were obtained by Margaret Darling, 18, of 67 Cooper Avenue, Altona North; Chas Neal, 19, of 53 Bladin Street, Laverton North; Hazel Boyd, 17, of 173 Chambers Road, Altona North; Ian Duddy, 18, of 579 Geelong Road, Altona North; and Neva

Kastelic, 17, of 141 Chambers Road, Altona North.

Other Commonwealth scholarship winners were Ross Clark, Margaret Darling, Ian Duddy, Alan Duthbridge, Neva Kastelic, Janice Kemp, Ray Makohon, and Brigita Miezi.

Hazel Boyd, Dianne Freeman, Doreen Harfield, Robert Hugo, Chris O'Brien, Heather Reid and Neil Spurrell were offered teaching studentship at Melbourne Teachers' College (primary), while Jenny Sloan gained entrance to a course leading to Trained Secondary Teachers' Certificate (Home Economics).

TO REPRESENT VICTORIA . . .

Altona North High School has two girls representing Victoria in the Australian athletic championships in Sydney later this month. They are Jenny Davidson (seated), who will compete in the senior and junior long jump, and Giannina Sardi (standing), who has been selected for the junior discus. Also making the trip from Altona North is Manfred Rokhamper, who will compete in the under-19 javelin. He has the best performance by a 16-year-old in Australia.

ON THE TRACK OF KNOWLEDGE

Eighty Altona Primary School students recently returned home after a week's instructional tour of the western district.

The tour, by train, is an annual affair and has been dubbed, "The train of knowledge."

Some of the students together with their parents, teachers and Altona Mayor (Cr. Doug Grant) were pictured prior to their departure last Monday week. Photo supplied by Barry M. Sutton Studios.

During the trip each student compiled a report on activities undertaken each day.

The itinerary included stops at Geelong, where students visited the Cheetham Salt Works; Warrnambool, for an inspection of the Tower Hill extinct volcano, Fletcher Jones Gardens and Acme Butter Factory and Kraft Cheese Factory at Alansford; Port Fairy, where mutton birds proved a big attraction.

The students attended a concert at the Hamilton Music Bowl, while the highlight of the trip was a fancy dress ball at the Ararat VRI hall.

At Ararat, inspection tours were also held to a winery at Great Western and the beautifully picturesque Halls Gap.

At Ballarat, a tour was made of the Sovereign Hill Wattle Gold Mine Village.

Lapidary club's essay winner

The essay competition conducted by the Western Suburbs Lapidary Club was won by Karen Farr, of Newport West State School.

Although there was only a small attendance of members at the last social night, those who came enjoyed themselves.

Competition winners were: Jeff Lawrence, Blanche Lawrence, Geraldine Caelli, Pauline Walker and Mrs. Popplestone.

Members are reminded about the field trip to Moe on March 14.

Members should meet at the Latrobe Valley Gems and Mineral Rockshop, Fowler Street, at 10 a.m.

Fowler Street is Moe's main street.

The club wishes to point out that it did not share in the proceeds from the recent display held in conjunction with the Newport and Williamstown Combined Pensioners' Association.

122 breeds of dogs; all 'built' for a purpose!

The Star this week talked to Mr. Lyle Young, president of the Western Suburbs All Breeds Kennel Club.

"We have over 122 breeds of dogs, in the club ranging from boxers to poodles."

"It's funny you know; many people, particularly men, regard poodles as effeminate."

"This is not true. Every dog is built for a purpose."

"The poodle is a hunting dog, excellent for running down small game."

"Their woolly hair was grown for protection against the cold."

"Many people find it hard to believe that dogs are 'built'; this all ties in with pedigrees and breeding."

He referred to the dachshund.

"Its long sausage-like body, with short legs, were designed for underground work, chasing animals like rabbits."

"With the short legs it can easily get down burrows, and is quite nippy on its feet."

The Kennel Club specialises in "conformation" — the particular breed's bone structure, height and grooming, rather than obedience or tricks.

It has members from all over the western suburbs, numbering in the region of 112.

Returning to the subject of breeding, Mr. Young said: "Except for the name, you couldn't imagine what the bulldog was bred for."

"It has a high back, an undershot jaw and short legs, all 'built' for a specific purpose."

"Used for bull fighting, the dogs can grab the bull by the legs and lock its jaws, the shape of the body allowing it to roll up into a ball to avoid being kicked."

"Even the wrinkles on a bulldog's head are 'built', to prevent blood from the bull rolling into the dog's eyes."

"Instead, it runs across the furrows."

"The same 'building' process has been applied to German shepherd dogs, Labradors, Terriers, Afghanians and all other breeds," he said.

The club meets every third Thursday in the month, at the Homestead, Altona.

The meetings take the form of lectures, slide nights and social evenings.

Originally the club was known as the Western Suburbs Social Club, before its affiliation with the Kennel Control Council.

The young group officially gained club status in September last year, and is now organising its first parade, at the Altona Showgrounds.

The club was initiated by its now secretary, Mrs. Yvonne Sanderson, of Civic Parade, Altona.

Since then, membership has grown steadily. At present there are 112 members.

Anybody interested in going along to a meeting should contact Mrs. Sanderson, at 219 Civic Parade, Altona, 'phone 3982056.

Val's Column

Hello Girls,

You have been waiting for it, well here it is — It is Sheer Puffery created by Coty. A froth of color that just foams on light as air, see-through, so sheer natural. Sheer Puffery applies so smoothly, blends so evenly, will never cake or streak, cannot change color and is so delicately fragranced. See for yourself the four, almost bare, colors. Golden Beige, Ivory, Peachpetal and Sunny Tan. Coty Sheer Puffery have made news with their Foam Blusher too! The first really polished glow up. It lights up your foundation shade, your tanned face and marvellous for evening allure. Two foamy glimmers power packed, just press a button to instant glamor. Don't believe it? Come to the Coty counter and see just what they have whipped up for you.

And yes, Liquid Lid — the fluid eye shadow again by Coty. A creamy fluid that goes on with ease, yet dries to the softly gleamed perfection of powder. It has its own brush, so apply to the shape of fashions fancy. It is smearproof, flake-proof and stays on with "just applied" fresheners.

Hair can be a problem, but you can start improving it by using the correct shampoo. What better could you do than use Steiners new Herbal Shampoo which has been especially created by using nature's own way to improve the condition of all types of hair. Included are a delicate balance of beneficial herbs and other ingredients to make your hair naturally healthy, full of life and bounce, soft and shiny, yet easy to manage. Use the trial size sachet, then get the bottle for the rest of the family.

New wig styles in Girls! The tossed curls, the straight back forehead and those lovely neck curls. A new cut, a new length. Then there are more Caribbean with the sun kissed coloring.

Leather and suede, leather and suede! Belts, chockers and bags Girls! and the colors. Bye.

Feared a fight so drove away

—Court is told

A taxi driver chased a motorist for three miles through Altona streets after an accident, a police witness told Williamstown Court last week.

GRAHAM FLAKEMORE, who is already serving a sentence in Geelong Gaol on another charge, was charged with having driven with a blood alcohol level greater than .05 per cent., careless driving, and having failed to give his name and address at the scene of an accident.

A witness in the case, ROBERT SCOTT, of 25 Seagull Avenue, Altona, was not in court.

CONSTABLE GLYNN ELLIS, of Altona police, read a statement given to police by Scott after a car accident on August 15, 1970.

Constable Ellis said Scott told him he was driving along Millers Road when he was hit from behind by another car.

Scott said the other car, driven by Flakemore, pulled up a few hundred yards ahead, but took off again before names and addresses were exchanged.

Scott told police that both he and a taxi driver, who witnessed the accident, chased Flakemore's car, and the taxi driver finally stopped it in Grieve Parade, Altona.

Constable Ellis said Flakemore told him he pulled out to overtake Scott's car, but misjudged the distance and struck the back of it.

Constable Ellis added that Flakemore also told him Scott swore at him and threatened him, and he drove off because he did not want to get into a fight with Scott.

Constable Ellis produced evidence to show that Flakemore had a blood alcohol level of .145 per cent. when tested by police later that night.

● Mr. F. Clancy, SM, found Flakemore guilty on all charges.

He fined him $60 and disqualified him from obtaining a driver's licence for six months on the .05 charge, $75 on the careless driving charge, and $25 for having failed to give his name and address to Scott.

COUNCILLOR WHO ONCE CRITICISED COUNCIL

Altona councillor Charles Walter Carlsson said this week there was a time when, like everybody else, he used to go crook about the council.

He added: "When things went wrong I grumbled with the rest, saying the council should do something."

After three years on the council, he says: "Now, of course, I'm the one who has to make the changes."

Charles Carlsson, of Cherry Avenue, Altona has been working as a cartage contractor since he was 18.

His grandfather came to Williamstown 100 years ago from Port Melbourne hawking vegetables through all the isolated places.

Charles Carlsson was christened in the Church of England, Williamstown, attended the Williamstown Salvation Army Sunday School and was married in the Presbyterian Church of Footscray.

When the Altona Methodist Gospel Mission asked to borrow his electric organ, he was happy to oblige.

He said: "I think no matter what your religion is you help to do God's work."

Cr. Carlsson holds the social services portfolio for Altona. He is proud of the social service amenities of his suburb.

He said: "Altona is one of the few suburbs to have a free kindergarten. I believe sending a child to kindergarten is good for him."

Cr. Carlsson added: "I enjoy the weekly council meetings. Although I've never been interested in politics, it's interesting to see how your city functions."

"While it is in the interests of Altona citizens that we prosecute those who cause pollution problems, we must keep in mind that the factories concerned are also rate-payers and we should give them the chance to alleviate the bad conditions caused by pollution."

"A lot of money for social welfare comes from these industries and they also employ people from this area."

TREES

"The term pollution control is about to be dropped. It will be changed to environmental improvement and will include such things as planting trees."

"We still want people to report bad cases of pollution and if the factories which cause it keep breaking the law, they will be fined. But I think they are trying to make improvements."

CHAIRMAN

As a justice of the peace he sits regularly at Footscray court as chairman.

He said: "I was frightened to do it at first. After all I was pinching people for things I did at one time or another."

"I always try to put myself in the offender's shoes, and make the penalty fit the circumstances of the crime."

"You can't believe all you see either."

"A poor old dear was brought in the other day for travelling without a tram ticket."

"I thought what an awful thing to do, bringing in an old woman on such a petty charge."

"She was a migrant and she couldn't even understand half the questions that were asked of her."

"Then the truth came out. She had been reprimanded many times and had given a false name and address."

TENSE

"She said she did not receive a pension, had nothing to live on, and did not have any money."

"I could see the railway inspectors in the back looking peculiarly tense, as if they were trying to tell me something."

"I gave her the minimum fine and made her understand that she had two months to pay it off."

"I also said that if she made an effort to pay regularly, we were prepared to wait until she could afford to send the rest."

"So the pathetic little old lady pulled out a huge wad of $20 notes and coolly paid out the full amount."

He said: "I prefer to do council work, but sitting in court is also necessary. Somebody should see that the law is obeyed."

"But whenever I'm uncertain about the truth of a statement told by a defendant, I give him the benefit of doubt."

● Cr. Carlsson pictured with a trophy he won for his skill at his favorite hobby — speedboat racing.

The grass was not greener

By MARIANN BYRON

As the smug critics sit in their free seats, which have the best view in the theatre, they often wonder if some other play staged on the same night is more entertaining than the one they are watching.

After all, the grass is greener . . .

But Williamstown Little Theatre's comedy, which had its premier on Wednesday night, made this critic forget about other shows.

The Grass is Greener was delightful.

The play is about jealousy, self-doubt, possessiveness and insecurity, and while the theme is dealt with in a humorous vein, one finds pathos there too.

Lorraine West (pictured), who plays Hilary, is excellent as the countess.

She is sensitive enough to balance her talent for comedy with showing the poignancy of the mixed emotions she feels for Victor.

She makes you laugh, but she does not make the character she portrays look ridiculous.

Miss West, who was runner-up in the best actress award in last year's Moomba Festival, is convincing as a woman torn between love and infatuation.

Vin Foster as Victor is superb with his masculine assurance, which at times changes to low cunning and a fear of loneliness.

In his efforts to shrug off sympathy with wisecracks he seems all the more pathetic. Mr. Foster is more than a competent actor — he is an artist with a flair for timing, who puts across his own interpretation of the way a cuckolded husband could still keep his wife's respect.

Robyn McNally, who plays Hattie, everything a good mistress should be. She is too feather brained for a femme fatale, but her kittenish antics are charming and in keeping with the rest of the play. She plays a little gold digger, but a lovable one.

Doug Lindsay is tailor made for the role of Charles. He is highly persuasive and passionate without becoming objectionable. Even though he is an intruder into Hilary's home, he does not overplay the pushing American.

However, he is forceful enough to make the audience believe that Hilary could lose her head over him.

Nicholas Serpell as Sellers plays a difficult role remarkably well. Butlers have been around in comedies long enough to be stereotypes, but Mr. Serpell adds something of his own to his character.

When he assists with the duel in the final scene, he steals the show. Although this scene has a cloak-and-dagger romance about it, Mr. Serpell saves it from mock heroics by being his funny best.

Graeme Murphy's set is magnificent and no doubt the success of this play owes a lot to his skilful directing.

Even without knowing the actors, you could sense the team spirit between them.

The play, written by Hugh and Margaret Williams, is witty, thoughtful and entertaining.

When a critic pans a show, it makes far more interesting reading than a good report and by now all this perfection is getting me down because there is nothing to criticise.

THREATENED WITH CARVING KNIFE

A man threatened a taxi driver with a carving knife then, when the driver got out to phone the police, drove the taxi home, Footscray Court was told last Thursday.

Asked by police why he had done this, the man said: "The driver wouldn't take me where I wanted to go, so I knocked it off."

Before the court was told the court he had been called to Newport Police Station at 10.10 p.m. last Wednesday (March 3).

He was charged with taking and using a motor car, driving without a licence, assault with a carving knife and being found armed with an offensive weapon.

First Constable B. Williamson, of the Ascot Vale Crime Car Squad, told the court he had been Street, Footscray, that day.

In a recorded interview, Bass said he had drunk about 20 pots of beer.

Constable Williamson said Bass had hired a taxi to go home. He had climbed into the back seat of the taxi with a bag containing three carving knives, which he used at work.

He said Bass had taken one of the knives from the bag and threatened the driver.

The driver then managed to take the knife from Bass and, saying he was going to get some cigarettes, left the car to phone the police.

Constable Williamson said Bass then drove off in the taxi, went home and parked it in his driveway.

Asked why he had taken the knife out of the bag, Bass said: "I wanted to frighten him a little bit."

Constable Williamson added that Bass claimed he had had sufficient money to pay for the taxi, although only $1 was found on him at his home.

Constable Williamson said Bass had been drinking, but in his opinion was not drunk.

Two brothers of Bass were in court and gave sworn evidence.

They told Mr. E. L. Ross SM that he had been drinking heavily since his mother died last June. They said he was not a violent man.

Mr. Ross convicted Bass on the driving without a licence charge and imposed the statutory minimum fine of $100.

He adjourned the other three charges until March 2, 1972, and placed Bass on a $100 good behavior bond. A condition of the bond was that he seek medical and psychiatric advice.

New bank manager

A long-time Williamstown resident, Mr. E. R. Black, has been made manager of the Altona East branch of the State Savings Bank.

Mr. Black, who previously was manager of the bank's business promotions department in head office, succeeds Mr. J. C. McRae.

Mr. McRae has gone to the bank at Footscray south.

Both Mr. Black and his wife come from old Williamstown families. Members of Mr. Black's family have lived in Williamstown for 117 years.

When asked what his interests were, Mr. Black said the whole family's interests could be summed up in the word "Lions."

He is the President of the Williamstown Lion's club and the Cabinet Secretary and Treasurer of the District. His wife is President of the Williamstown Lion's Ladies' Auxiliary. Son Peter is President of Williamstown Leo Club and son Sandy the Treasurer. Two daughters make up the family.

During the second world war Mr. Black served in the RAAF as a navigator attached to RAF Coastal Command in the European theatre. He is a member of the RSL.

Driver beats charge over right of way

Mr. F. Clancy, SM, found an Altona man not guilty in Williamstown Court last week of failing to give way to traffic on his right because the man entered the intersection believing it was safe to do so.

Joseph Cashia, of 21 Civic Parade, Altona, pleaded not guilty to the charge of failing to give way to the right.

Harold Orr, of 10 Cox's Garden, Williamstown, told the court he was driving north along Millers Road, North Altona, at about 5.25 p.m. on August 22 last year.

Orr said that a car, which he later found to be driven by Cashia, came out from Bunting Avenue on his left, and the two cars collided.

Orr added that his car was damaged at the front and on the right-hand with a brick wall after the side, where he collided accident. The car was a write off.

Under cross-examination by counsel for Cashia, Mr. V. F. Kiesling, Orr said that after the collision, his car went through a gap in the median strip, up the gutter and through a brick fence of a house on the other side of the street.

He added that he estimated his speed at the time of the accident to be about 35 miles per hour.

He said that he was about 20 or 30 yards from the intersection when Cashia's car came out from Bunting Avenue.

Constable Norm Barron, of Altona police, told the court that both vehicles were write-offs.

He added that Orr's car travelled about 80 feet before going through the brick wall.

Mr. Kiesling, Cashia's lawyer, submitted to Mr. Clancy that because Cashia reached the intersection first, he should not have to answer to a charge of failing to give way to the right.

Mr. Clancy overruled the submission and said that Cashia was obliged to give way to traffic, even though he reached the intersection first.

Cashia gave evidence that he stopped at the corner of Millers Road and Bunting Avenue and started across the intersection when he saw no vehicle coming on his right.

He said that he did not see the other car before it hit his.

He added that his car was valued at only $450 and would have taken $600 to repair.

Mr. Clancy said that since Cashia entered the intersection under the belief that it was safe to do so, he had some doubts that the charge was proved.

He found Cashia not guilty.

No permit for car repairs

Williamstown council has deferred considering a land use permit for premises at 84 Blackshaws Road until the Clerk of the Magistrates Court has been advised of the matter.

Council's chief health inspector, Mr. N. Hawthorn, reported at the last council meeting that he inspected the premises with council's planning officer, Mr. D. Hackworth and found a car repair business in action.

Previously the premises had been run as a fibre teasing plant by a Mr. Bryant.

He found that Mr. R. Kersey had taken over the premises for car repairs several weeks before, and had not realised he had to apply to council for a land use permit.

Mr. Hawthorn said that the area was zoned "Residential C", and so a permit was necessary.

He said that the application had now been received.

Holiday offer to war widows

War widows are offered a pleasant and relaxing holiday at a moderate fee by the War Widows, and Widowed Mother Association.

The Association has holiday homes at Ferny Creek in the Dandenongs and Rosebud.

Muriel Ebeling House at Ferny Creek is situated on the Olinda Highway and the bus from Fern Tree Gully passes the door.

Shopping facilities are close at hand, a beautiful bushland setting offers restful relaxation and warmth and comfort is provided indoors.

The home will accommodate two to six widows and has easy, pleasant walks in close proximity.

Bookings may be made for this home and the Rosebud home by contacting Mrs. L. M. Reynolds, 101 McPherson Street, Essendon, 3040 (phone 37 5046).

A beetle drive will be held at the Altona West Kindergarten, Somers Parade, tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Defeat — but 'Town makes final four

Williamstown luckily kept its place in the final four on points after losing its Labor Day weekend match against Balwyn.

It will meet Port Melbourne at home next weekend in the semi-final.

Town was six for 73 with Don McKenzie on 23 not out.

When play resumed on Monday, Frank Bowyer was dismissed in the opening over of the day by Davis.

Although 'Town fought hard, they were dismissed for 117 with Don McKenzie an unbeaten 42. Balwyn in its second innings finished with five for 191, of which Keith James was top scorer with a dashing 42 in almost even time.

Outstanding feature of this game was the splendid performance of Bill Inglis.

Next Saturday's pennant fixtures are as follows:

No. 1 side v. Buckley Park away.

No. 2 side v. Blackburn at Altona.

No. 3 side v City of Melbourne at Altona.

On Monday, the Labor

Day -Open Tournament was contested by men's fours sides from Flemington, Kensington, Sunshine, Seddon, ICI, Newport, City of Melbourne, Footscray City, Clifton Park and Altona Working Men's Club.

The only four-game winners were W. Walsh (Altona), J. Fisher (Altona), and N. Wale (ICI).

In the play-off over five ends, Jack Fisher received the bye and Bill Walsh and Neal (Slim) Wale played off the semi final with victory going to Bill Walsh.

Bill Walsh and Jack Fisher then played off the final with victory going to Jack Fisher (Altona) after a very exciting and close tussle.

The winning rink skippered by Jack Fisher comprised Jim Stephens, Bill Probert, and the leader, Glen McNeillage.

Bill Walsh was skipper, Jim Buckley and Marty Neal were second and Allan Stephenson was leader.

Hockey club

All members of the Altona Hockey Club are requested to attend the annual meeting of the Altona Hockey Club, which will be held on Thursday, March 11 at 7.30 p.m. in the club rooms.

New secretary of baseball club

Popular Newport baseball club player and Altona resident, Barry Howard, is the new secretary of the club.

He was elected at the club's annual meeting — the first such meeting to be held in the new clubrooms.

The clubrooms were opened recently on the new ground at Park Crescent, Williamstown.

The good attendance and keen interest in club affairs at this meeting augurs well for the future of Newport Baseball Club.

Retiring secretary Bob Anderson presented a very comprehensive report of the club's 1970 activities.

Due to pressure of other commitments, Bob Anderson was unable to accept the job again after eight years in the position. He was elected a vice-president.

Other office-bearers are: president, Mr. W. R. Gledhill; vice-presidents, R. Anderson, B. Clearly, H. Douglas, J. Dunstone, C. James; secretary, B. Howard, 38 Chifley Avenue, Altona

(phone 398 1928); assistant secretary, J. Cornish; treasurer, Mr. J. Cornish; junior manager, Mr. S. McKay; social secretary, Mr. G. R. Murdoch; property steward, Mr. J. Smith; press correspondent, Mr. A. Solmanor; auditors, Messrs. J. Richardson and B. Shields.

The Old Players' Association will hold its annual meeting at the new clubrooms on Friday, March 5, at 8 p.m. All welcome.

Next Saturday, at 7.30 p.m., the Ladies' Auxiliary will start the year with a social night.

All members and friends are asked to attend to make this night a success. Ladies are asked to bring a plate.

Evans steers C team to final

Wicketkeeper Roy Evans with a fighting knock of 103 in 100 minutes (including 11 fours) steered Altona's C Grade team to an impressive 279 — and a place in the grand final.

But the club's A side was not so fortunate going down by seven runs to La Trobe.

The C Grade side will now meet Spotswood in an all-western suburbs grand final at the Flemington Kensington ground over the next three Saturdays. Hours of play are from 12.30 to 6 p.m.

The sides have not met before this despite the fact they finished first and second on the ladder. They were drawn to meet on Monday of the ANA weekend, but the match was washed out.

Evans' knock of 103 included four successive fours to take his score from 38 to 52 and a dropped chance when he was on 98.

He hooked the ball to deep square leg for a sitter chance, which was dropped, the fieldsman then picked up the ball and gave Evans his century from an overthrow.

He was finally out at 103 when he again attempted to hook and stepped back on to his leg stump. Kensington-United got off to a reasonable start at 1/17 on Saturday chasing Altona's 279.

They then added 50 runs in even time on Monday before spinners Frank Kirk and Geoff Stephenson routed them to be all out for 107.

Kirk, who incidentally had earlier made 46 not out, took 5/37 and Stephenson 4/17.

Kensington, forced to follow on, were out for 52, made in 50 minutes in their second innings.

Wricker was Neville Healey with 6/37 and Keith Hancock with 3/15.

FIGHTING STAND

A fighting stand between captain-coach Ken Hansen and Ian Hughes gave Altona's A grade side a chance of taking the points against La Trobe.

They took the score points against La Trobe from a shaky 6/64 (chasing 104) on Saturday to side a chance of taking the 6/87 before Hansen was out lbw for 15.

Hansen batted under difficulties because of a pulled muscle in his leg, and had to use a runner throughout his innings.

Two quick wickets fell without any addition to the score, the run out of Bruce Forrester probably ended Altona's chances of making the runs.

Ken Duff (six not out) and Hughes (15) took the score to 97.

In La Trobe's second innings, Altona had them 6/51 before a 68 run partnership for the seventh wicket took their score to 123.

This left Altona 55 minutes to score 131 runs for an outright win.

Altona were 6/58 at stumps with Alec Merrill contributing 21.

Festival grant

The Australian Council for the Arts has allocated $1,975 towards the Altona Arts Festival to be held in April.

Cr. PAT BURNS, who holds the council's cultural activities portfolio, told council the arts committee was delighted with the grant.

The arts festival will be the second held in Altona.

Cr. Burns outlined activities in drama, music and other forms of entertainment which was planned for the festival.

SIX GOLDS AT LITTLE ATHLETICS TITLES

A. Thompson received a great ovation from the crowd when she received two gold medallions for her excellent performances in her events.

She hurled her disc 12.38 metres in the under-9 girls discus and she won the 400 metres final in the very good time of 1 min. 19.6 secs.

S. Smith of Westona was also presented with two gold medallions.

One for a very fine performance in the boys under-9 high jump, clearing the bar at a height of 1.08 metres, and the other for an excellent performance in the 800-metre event which he won in 3.06 secs., only seven tenths of a second outside the Victorian record.

C. Bassett of St. Mary's club also received two gold medallions. The first was for an excellent performance in the discus event in which he threw the discus 27.95 metres. The second was for his fine effort in dashing down the 60-metre hurdle track in the smart time of 10.5 secs., — only eight tenths of a second outside the Victorian record.

During this year's championship series the children have also broken many of the existing Altona-Centre records.

The children will be collecting funds to buy additional equipment during the coming week.

A larger number of parents helped with the running of the programme and the placing and removal of equipment.

Life saving is a serious business, though it does seem to have its lighter side. These five young members of the Altona Life Saving Club enjoy a joke as they examine one of the Club's reels and harness. Winter sport and school work will soon put life saving thoughts out of their heads until next summer.

Elderlies visit Moomba

A visit to Moomba, a visit to the Begonia Festival and a concert party, filled the social calendar of the Altona Elderly Citizens this week.

Members of the club were invited by the Moomba committee to view the water skiing of the Yarra last week.

Special VIP seating was arranged by the committee to give members front row seats.

On Wednesday, two busloads of members visited the Ballarat Begonia Festival, where they joined more than 6000 other elderly citizens for a picnic lunch and concert in the gardens.

Added to this the weather was beautiful, said club members.

On Tuesday and Thursday the club was pleased to see so many members attend the games afternoons.

The Summerlea Concert Party entertained the group on Sunday with their usual skill.

Following this the concert party and members sat down to afternoon tea.

WITNESSES ASSEMBLE

A special feature of the Jehovah's Witnesses Circuit Assembly attended by more than 70 members of the local Williamstown congregation at North Sunshine Technical School was the baptism on Saturday morning, when nine ministers were added.

The Italian and Greek section of the community were catered for at the assembly with a lecture in their own language.

Mr. McLean, principle speaker at the assembly, told the audience of 435 that the only successful way people could withstand the pressures of modern life was by applying simple Bible principles.

Poets note

As part of the forthcoming Altona Arts Festival, members of XI MU Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi are organising a poetry writing competition.

Prizes will be awarded and presented during the festival. Winning entries will also be read.

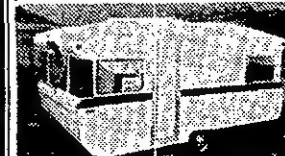

There will be sections for both adults and children. Entries should be sent to Mrs. Jacqueline Foulkes, 6 Grieve Highway, Altona, by April 3. Further information can be obtained by ringing Mrs. Foulkes on 398 2683 or 63 6701 (business).

Art show entries

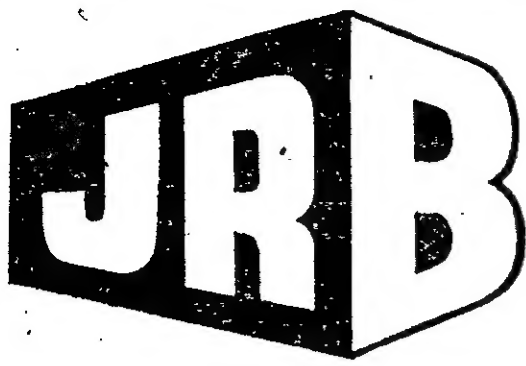

The Beta Sigma Phi Art Show Committee reminds exhibitors that entries close this Friday, March 12.

Please post entries to Mrs. D. Richards 30 The Strand, Williamstown (phone 397 6622).
